

SITAL SINGH GILL

I, Sital Singh Gill, am a community leader and have been the General Secretary of the Indian Workers Association and Chair of the local Residents Association for many years. Now, I am running as an Independent Candidate in Leicester's May local elections. As a trade unionist, I have been a prominent voice for the working people of Leicester for over 30 years.

Together with my fellow breakaway candidates across Leicester, I am standing independently against the Labour Party. We are deeply concerned about their blatant disregard for democracy and the continued community work of their ordinary members, who have not been allowed to stand. We need change. It is clear that the Labour Party no longer represents the values and interests of ordinary working people in Leicester.

I am committed to improving the conditions of our local NHS, education, and welfare services and upholding the values of democracy. I will cut waiting lists and fight for the funding and support that these public services need to thrive. Additionally, I am determined to work towards a safer community, reducing crime and anti-social behaviour.

Preventing rises in council tax is also a priority for me. I understand that the financial burden on households is already high, and any increase in council tax would only make matters worse. As a councillor, I will scrutinise the budget carefully and prioritise cost-effective solutions to deliver value and ensure council tax is kept as low as possible. Vote Gill for Troon Ward.

KAMLESH KUMARI

I, Kamlesh Kumari, have helped many elderly, disabled, and vulnerable people with their benefits, social housing, employment support, and other needs. I actively volunteer in the community, helping to develop new skills for members and listening to people's concerns to try to help them. I support people with their paperwork, liaising with different government and private agencies. I also act as an interpreter as many people have a language barrier, and English is not their first language.

I actively participate in all social events for the betterment of society. I am an active member of Indian Workers Association GB and support all events, campaigns, and programs arranged by the organisation for the betterment of co-residence to raise concerns on current affairs that impact residents and the community.

I request your support and vote so that I can raise your voice in the Council to work together for the betterment of our ward/community and establish a safer and stronger community. I am always available and ready to listen to community issues, to raise them before the authority, and bring solutions for the betterment of our communities.

I ensure my wholehearted support to play a key role in the city as the voice of the ward and community, representing local people and any concerns they have. So please support and vote for me, and give me a chance to serve you. Vote Kumari for Troon Ward.
